When Is My Hearing Due?

Calculating 7 days

Section 75(2) of the Health Care Consent Act requires that hearings before the Consent and Capacity Board be held within seven days of receipt of the application by the Board unless all parties agree to a postponement.

Further clarity on the calculation of seven days and the impact of weekends and holidays is provided by the Health Care Consent Act, the Statutory Powers and Procedures Act, and the Board's Rules of Practice.

Generally speaking, the seven days are calendar days; however seven day counts can only begin and end on business days. Note that the day of receipt is “day zero” and applications received after 4 p.m. are deemed to be received on the following business day.

To assist parties in determining when the “seventh day” occurs for a matter with which they are involved, the Board has produced the following calendar. To determine the “due date” for your matter, look up the date on which the Board received the application before 4 p.m. The date shown in that calendar block (dd/mm/yyyy) is the “seventh day” or “due date” for the matter.

For example, an application received before 4 p.m. on Friday January 9 2015 is “due” on Friday January 16 2015.

If you have any questions about the due date of your hearing, please contact the Board.
